Demos, Republicans re-elect county chairmen

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Both the Democrats and Republicans in Hancock County re-elected their former executive committee chairmen at county conventions yesterday.

Joseph H. Benvenuti was elected county chairman at the Democratic convention which convened Saturday morning, and James Rester was elected at an executive committee meeting following the Republican convention Saturday afternoon.

The Democrats elected Hilda Bourg secretary of their county executive committee and the Republicans re-elected Evelyn McPhail as secretary-treasurer.

Dena Curvey was elected vice-chairman of the Republican executive committee.

The county convention delegates also elected delegates and alternates to their state conventions, and other executive committee members.

Hancock County Democrats will have 16 delegates at their state convention May 4-5 in Jackson, each with one-fourth vote.

These delegates will be:
—Walter Mondale delegates Larry Bennett, Joan Bennett, Barbara Blakey and Burt Barrett;
—Gary Hart delegates Hilda Bourg,

Truman Schultz Jr., Rosemary McFarland and Dr. W.L. McFarland;

—Jesse Jackson delegates Alonzo Daniels, Thad Williams, Geraldine Lang and Clarence Harris; and —Uncommitted delegates Sylvan Ladner, Perry Gibson, Celeste Proulx and Tom Flynn.

Hancock County Republicans elected James Rester, Evelyn McPhail and Mike Smith as delegates to the Republican state convention in Jackson April 14.

John Auderer, Lynn McGehee and Dr. A.K. Martinolich were elected alternates to the state convention.

Hancock County Republicans will have two-and-one-half votes at the state convention.

Members of the executive committees elected at the county conventions are:

Beat 2—James Rester, Inez Gustafson and John Auderer;
Beat 3—Evelyn McPhail, Paul Vegas and Mary McDonnell; Beat 4—Mike Smith, Paul Montjoy

and A.K. Martinolich; and Beat 5—Neil Frisbie, Sonny Bailey and Al Summy.

Tornado aid drive mounted

Brother Charles Clark, pastor of the Waveland First Assembly of God, has issued an appeal for clothing, dry food and home furnishings for South Carolina storm victims.

Clark said he and members of his congregation will leave Monday afternoon to deliver the items to Bennettsville, S.C. where several people died and many were left homeless by last week's tornadoes.

Donations may be delivered to the church at Arnold and Hope Streets just north of Old Spanish Trail.

Arrangements to have donations picked up can be made by calling the church, 467-7667, Clark added.

Reappraisal said on schedule

County planning to build tax collector building

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Following a report that Hancock County's 'in-house' property reappraisal program is on schedule, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Thursday authorized plans to build a county assessor-tax collector building in Bay St. Louis.

Edward Murtagh Jr., the assessor-tax collector, said the in-house program has saved Hancock $500,000 compared to other county reappraisal efforts, many of which will not meet the scheduled July 1 deadline.

Murtagh reported he will soon mail out about 40,000 notices to Hancock property owners listing the market value of their homes, businesses, industries and land, but he is awaiting legislative action to know what the assessment rate will be.

These notices will also inform the recipients that they are entitled to a personal private hearing with the assessor's office to discuss the appraisal, Murtagh said.

To accommodate local taxpayers, Murtagh reported he needs much more office space to insure privacy and prompt service.

James Travirca, District Five supervisor, reported he and Sam Perniciaro, District Four supervisor, have determined a 60 by 100-foot steel building would house all of Murtagh's operations.

Presently, the assessor-tax collector operations are housed in the County Courthouse and Treutel Insurance building in Bay St. Louis.

Travirca said the new building would be located on Court Street near the courthouse immediately east and next door to 'The Sea Coast Echo' building.

The supervisors discussed renting a building on Main Street owned by Maurice Colly between the Masonic building and the old Magnolia Supply warehouse.

But Mike Necaise, county chancery clerk, said Friday that the former old folks home behind Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis could be utilized until the new building is completed.

Travirca, a former building contractor, estimated that the steel building shell would cost about $42,000, but that figure would increase as air conditioning and interior wall costs were added.

The board authorized Fred Wagner, a Bay St. Louis architect, to draft plans and specifications for the new building. Travirca said the building would have a brick facade with exterior enameled sheet steel sides and back.

In a related matter, the supervisors authorized Murtagh to obtain a bulk mailing permit to send out the notices.

Hancock General Hospital has received a three-year accreditation from the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals.

According to JCAH Administrator Philip B. Brown, the commission commended the hospital staff for their dedication toward teaching and main-

Hancock seeking exception from budget hike ceiling

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is seeking a local and private bill from the Legislature for a three-mill tax hike above the 10 percent annual budget increase ceiling allowed county governments by the state.

At a Thursday morning supervisor meeting, Walter Gex, board attorney, reported that the increase is necessary to support the Hancock Sheriff's Department.

Mike Necaise, county chancery clerk, explained Friday afternoon that by law the sheriff and assessor-tax collector offices are allowed to collect one mill annually for their operations.

One mill now generates about $60,000 annually, he said.

"The sheriff's budget is now about $410,000 and the assessor's is about $208,000," Necaise stated.

In the past, the county has relied on natural gas severance tax collections to help support these offices, but the present United States gas glut has resulted in a virtual halt in Hancock gas field production, Necaise noted.

"We have to get more money or cut our county services," he stated.

Necaise said he did not know how much the proposed millage increase might raise property taxes, but reported the present millage rate would probably be cut in half to comply with state law and as a result of the countywide reappraisal program which is near completion.

He speculated the value of one mill would probably about double to $120,000 as a result of the reappraisal.

At the Thursday meeting, Gex reported the legislature has not yet allowed county governments to set their own millage rates.

"If it's assumed that the sheriff and tax collector are still splitting three mills after reappraisal, this still will not be enough, but it will help towards sound fiscal management," he stated.

"This has nothing to do with if the sheriff's budget is high or low," Gex added.

The resolution unanimously approved by the supervisors to state legislators from Hancock says the increase is needed to improve local law enforcement capabilities which have become strained due to an expected crime increase from the upcoming New Orleans World's Fair.

It also states that law enforcement problems have arisen because human habitation is forbidden by the federal government in a large portion of the county which is the National Space Technology Laboratories Acoustic Buffer Zone.

The new management set top priority on upgrading the hospital to meet JCAH standards.

In 1981 the hospital received JCAH accreditation for two years, the maximum allowed at that time.

Since then, the one-year accreditations have been discontinued.

Bay radio station owner to file FM application

By NAN PATTON EHRBRIGHT

Ira Hatchett, owner of WXGR Radio, said he will make application for assignment of a new FM radio channel for Bay St. Louis.

"I am definitely applying," Hatchett said Friday, "and have already started the application process."

According to a recent Federal Communications Commission announcement in Washington, D.C., Bay St. Louis is one of 84 cities in the United States where a new FM radio channel may be assigned as a result of changes in the FCC regulations on station locations.

The FCC published the changes March 1, and has invited interested and qualified applicants from each of the cities to indicate their interest by May 15.

A Denver-based consulting engineer, Larry D. Ellis, estimated that almost three-fourths of the 84 cities involved in the proposal do not have an FM station at this time.

"The FCC action represents an unprecedented opportunity for many communities to gain additional local radio coverage," he said.

According to Ellis, the channel proposed for Bay St. Louis would be on a frequency of 94.3 MHz and could have a transmitting power of 3000 watts, sufficient to cover an area of 712 square miles around Bay St. Louis.

Hatchett said it is his understanding that the FCC will not take action on the applications until July or August.

"But it's possible," he said, "that some stations could be on the air around the first of next year."

Hatchett said establishing an FM station would be an expensive project, requiring major equipment investments, new transmitters, antennas, and so on.

"It could run well over $100,000," he estimated.

Hancock county hospital receives accreditation taining the high standards of professionalism and quality patient care prescribed by the commission.

The commission's action, announced by hospital staff Thursday, was based on a survey conducted in January by its accreditation team consisting of a physician, a hospital administrator, a registered nurse and a certified medical technologist.

In mid-1980 JCAH refused to grant the hospital another one-year accreditation.

Shortly after that refusal, the hospital board contracted with the Hospital Corporation of America to manage the hospital.

The new management set top priority on upgrading the hospital to meet JCAH standards.

In 1981 the hospital received JCAH accreditation for two years, the maximum allowed at that time.

Since then, the one-year accreditations have been discontinued.

Guide offered to combat drunk driving problem

Persons who want to help curb the drunk driving problem in Hancock County can now get help at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.

Reference Librarian Sherry Schwabacher announced that A Citizen Activist Guide to Fight Drunk Driving has been made available to the Hancock County Library System by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), which published the document.

NHTSA, an agency of the U.S. Department of Transportation, distributed the guide in cooperation with Allstate Insurance Company and the American Library Association.

The guide has been mailed to more than 17,000 public, junior college, college and university libraries across the country.

The guide provides 'how to' information to help individuals organize a task force to study the drunk driving problem and then get the study results translated into effective programs for their own localities.

During the past few years, several citizens' groups have used a 'grass roots' approach that has successfully focused attention on the problem and on the potential solutions.

The Citizens Activist Guide sets out a step-by-step method of investigating a community's existing system for dealing with drunk drivers. It also includes helpful suggestions about strategy, how to finance a program for controlling drunk drivers, how to draw public attention to the subject and how to lobby for change.

Schwabacher noted that at least 55 percent of all fatal traffic collisions are alcohol-related, and 650,000 people will be seriously injured by drunk drivers in the United States during this year alone. The problem is most effectively handled at the state and local level where citizens can make a difference if they know how to proceed, she said.

The Citizen Activist Guide to Fight Drunk Driving is available during regular library hours at the City-County Branch of the Hancock County Library System.

MRS. BETTY GENE DORN

She was preceded in death by a son, David Harkness Morris, and a daughter, Mary Elizabeth Morris.

FmHA SUPERVISOR CITED—Don Barrett, right, FmHA state director for Mississippi, congratulates Loren J. Whittington, Hancock County FmHA supervisor, for completing and approving 100 percent of the farm production loan applications received from farmers in the county by the end of February. Barrett said 'quick action and hard work' by Whittington and his staff will allow farmers in Hancock County to receive loan funds in a timely manner before spring planting. Barrett also stated that 2,890 of the 3,200 applications for 1984 farm production loans received statewide had already been processed by the end of February, a record never before achieved by the agency. The applications still on hand will be processed within the next few days.

Library offers program to improve basic skills

More than 80 people have found a new educational direction through the Hancock County Library System's COMPASS Project.

COMPASS, a computer-assisted survival skills program, was initiated in January for persons who want to improve basic education skills, return to high school, gain better employment or enter college or vocational school.

"Six one-hour computer workshops have been given to train the current COMPASS members," said Project Coordinator Becky Mitchum Keefer.

The workshop is a training session to teach people how to use the pe-packaged educational programs on the computer. It is not a computer programming class, Keefer emphasized.

After completing the workshop each person received a COMPASS card that allows them to use the computers and computer programs.

The Hancock County Library offers a variety of computer programs. "Master-type, a typing instruction game, and Word Attack, a vocabulary builder, are two of the most popular programs," Keefer said.

To join the program, one must be 16 or older, not enrolled in high school, have a valid library card and attend the one-hour COMPASS project workshop.

Additional workshops have been planned for April 4 from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and April 9 from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. The workshops are limited to 15 people. Those interested in participating should pre-register by calling 467-5282.

Baptists plan 'spectacle' at Coliseum

Some 85 members of the Bay St. Louis First Baptist Church are expected to join Mississippi Baptists from all counties in the state at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Coliseum in Biloxi, Apr. 10 to witness a spectacle.

The event is rare—an appointment service for foreign missionaries, including a parade of flags, testimonies by the missionaries, speeches by Southern Baptist leaders, and a 1,000-voice choir.

The local arrangements committee on the Coast expects to fill the 11,000-plus seat coliseum. Buses have been chartered by churches across the state.

The program begins at 6:45 p.m., April 10 and is open to the public.

The missionaries to be appointed, up to 50 of them, will be serving among the 102 foreign countries where the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board has missionaries.

The Foreign Mission Board, based in Richmond, Va., takes an appointment service out of town once each year so that people in other areas can see first-hand the dedicating of lives for Christian service overseas.

Help Your Heart

Diet in the Healthy Child

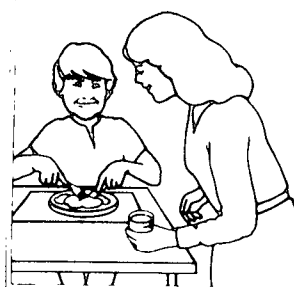

The American Heart Association recommends moderate changes in the diet of healthy American children over the age of two in order to lessen their risk of heart disease in adulthood.

The AHA's new dietary guidelines focus on lowering intake of cholesterol and salt by substituting and modifying foods. For example, when you pack your child's lunch box, substitute sliced turkey or chicken sandwiches for high-salt, high-cholesterol hot dogs and baloney.

Your children's diet should be nutritionally adequate in vitamins and minerals and consist of a variety of foods. It should emphasize fresh fruits and vegetables, complex carbohydrates, and high-quality protein such as low-fat dairy products and lean cuts of meat, fish and chicken.

A child's daily intake of calories should be divided approximately this way: 15 percent from protein; 55 percent from complex carbohydrates such as beans, cereals and grains; and 30 percent from fat. The AHA recommends a fat ratio of approximately 10:10:10—that is, about 10 percent saturated fat, about 10 percent monounsaturated, and less than 10 percent polyunsaturated fat. Animal fats are examples of saturated fats. Olive oil is an example of a monounsaturated fat. Peanut and corn oil are examples of polyunsaturated fats.

Like adults, children should not consume more than 300 milligrams of cholesterol per day. Recent government studies show that rapid changes in cholesterol consumption occur in white boys: from a level of 891 milligrams at age 10 consumption soars to 505 at age 19.

Excessive salt intake may be associated with hypertension in susceptible persons. Children should limit their intake by cutting down on highly-salted snack foods and on sodium-containing condiments, and by not adding salt to food.

Even at the age of two, it's not too early to start teaching your children healthy eating habits that may help their heart.

There is a need for several young ladies aged 18 to 20 to participate in the Bay St. Louis Annual Miss Hospitality Pageant to be held April 28.

Janet Aime, coordinator for the pageant, reports there is a need for several more entrants, and the young ladies are not only judged on beauty, but personality plays an important role in the selection.

The winner, in addition to participating in the Miss Hospitality Pageant at the Coliseum July 25-28, will also participate in many events throughout the year representing the city.

If you are interested, Mrs. Aime can be reached at city hall, 467-9092. The deadline is Monday, April 2.

Good luck to all entrants.

Good news was heard on Thursday by Hancock General employees when it was announced the local hospital had received a three-year accreditation over the public address system.

The Joint Commission on the Accreditations of Hospitals had made a January survey of HGH, and at that time Phil Langston, administrator, reported he felt the three-year-accreditation would be forthcoming.

We wish to extend our congratulations to the administration, doctors staff, nursing staff and all support personnel at Hancock General. We know they are all doing a super job.

A lot of excitement was around for a few minutes on Thursday afternoon as the Space Shuttle passed over Hancock County.

It was a beautiful sight, even though it was in view for only a few minutes.

The only complaints we really heard was the fact it was out of sight so fast.

Several years ago we had an opportunity of seeing a Space Shuttle on exhibition at the St. Louis Airport, and were amazed by its size, much less the big 747 it rides piggyback.

At St. Louis during the take-off everyone was wondering if it would make it off the ground, as it seemed to travel very slowly.

People living in our area, of course, have a tremendous interest in the Space Shuttle since its engines are tested in Hancock County and fuel tanks constructed at Michoud.

Many will be traveling to the Louisiana World Expedition this summer, and we hope you will take the opportunity of viewing the Enterprise from close range while it is on display.

It too should be a large drawing card at the World's Fair in New Orleans.

Mississippi's money managers—the elected and appointed state officials responsible for financing state operations and for balancing the budget—will talk about solutions to the state's financial crisis when the Mississippi Economic Council holds its Annual Meeting.

Key state officials participating in the meeting will explain the financial picture and suggest changes which must be made if the state is to advance economically.

The Annual Meeting is scheduled for Thursday at the Holiday Inn Downtown in Jackson. The state's money managers will meet with the MEC membership at 9:30 a.m.

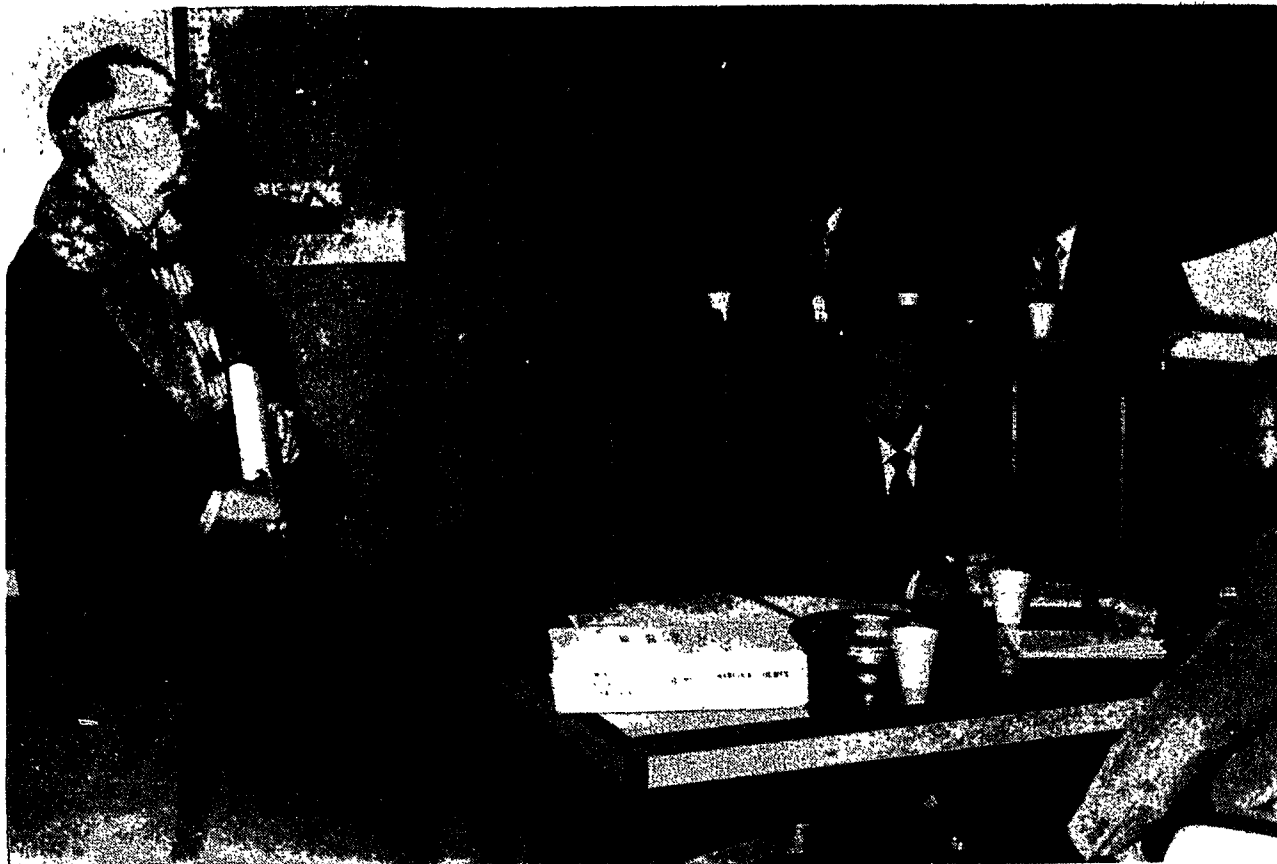

"We look forward to the opportunity of meeting with state officials," said Bill Sones, a Brookhaven banker who is chairman of the Annual Meeting Committee. "Businessmen have many questions to ask concerning the state's financial situation."

In addition to the forum with money managers, council members will participate in a question-and-answer session with the administrative assistants in the offices of each of the state's Congressmen and Senators. Bill Simpson, a former white House Aide and former administrative assistant to Senator James O. Eastland, will keynote the 10:45 a.m. session.

Featured speaker for the Annual Meeting will be Gil Brandt, vice president of the Dallas Cowboys, one of the most successful athletic teams and one of the most successful business organizations in the country.

MEC is the state's chamber of commerce and is the largest association of business and professional leaders in Mississippi.

HANCOCK BEAUTIFICATION EFFORT—Appealing to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Thursday morning for assistance in the Hancock Chamber of Commerce and Port and Harbor Commission Key Community Program beautification project is Ellis Cuevas, left, program chairman, publisher and editor of 'The Sea Coast Echo.' Listening to Cuevas' presentation are, seated from left, Supervisor James Travis,

Supervisor Board Secretary Jim Pfeiffer, Supervisor Sam Perniclaro, Board Attorney Walter Gex and Board Secretary Greg Pfeiffer. The supervisors approved Cuevas' suggestion for the county to join Mississippi in declaring April beautification month and assist in removing illegally parked junked cars and dumped garbage. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us

Answer and response to 911 provided by local agencies, not telephone company

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Sir:

I would like to provide for your readers some background concerning 911 service related to an article in the March 18, 1984 edition.

In the minds of many people, 911 is associated with the telephone company. Implementation of 911 does depend on the telephone company to make it available in the central offices.

More importantly it depends on public safety agencies fully organized to handle emergency calls of all types on a community-wide basis.

The appropriate agency then subscribes to the service for the appropriate exchange or prefix.

The dialing of the simple 911 number puts the caller in direct touch with the emergency agency subscribing to this service who operate and man the answer point.

Participation of both fire and police agencies is required as a minimum for the establishment of a 911 system.

Those public safety agencies involved must determine how emergency calls will be answered and dispatched. It is up to the various agencies to get together, decide what they want, allocate costs and provide funding.

South Central Bell provides the central office equipment required for 911 service.

Municipalities or comparable governmental entities pay for the equipment at the emergency bureau, or answering point, for trunk lines and for any special features required.

Access to 911 directs the caller to this emergency agency whose operations must obviously be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Otherwise, the emergency numbers page of the directory (inside front cover) provides space for customers to write in their appropriate fire, police, and ambulance numbers for quick reference in the event of an emergency.

We urge all our customers to utilize this page, or any other effective means to make sure all family members are aware of appropriate emergency numbers, especially in areas not having 911 access.

Yours very truly,
Don H. Roberts

Army Missile Command offering small business seminar

March 16, 1984
The Sea Coast Echo
Editors
Bay St. Louis
Gentlemen:

Help us give your readers the opportunity to learn about how to do business with the federal government by announcing the following as a public service:

"Small Business Opportunities Day," hosted by the U.S. Army Missile Command to assist small and disadvantaged businesses, will be held on Thursday, May 24 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at the Von Braun Civic Center, Huntsville, Ala.

Two hundred exhibitors will participate. As in the past, numerous defense prime contractors will be present to discuss subcontract opportunities.

Representatives of 75 federal agencies throughout the United States will be present to answer questions relative to their activities; how to get on their bidders' list; and most will have current requirements on which you may bid.

Included are all federal agencies in the Huntsville area; plus other Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine activities from throughout the United States; Tennessee Valley Authority; General Services Administration; Defense Logistics Agency; Department of Energy; and Government Printing Office.

Counselors from the Small Business Administration, Defense Contract Administrative Services, and several project offices and directorates will be present. Representatives of the high reliability soldering school at Redstone Arsenal will be available to discuss enrollment, tuition, certification, etc.

Representatives from Small Business Development Centers in Alabama will be present to counsel small businessmen on sources of capital, cash flow, accounting systems, legal ramifications, production, etc.

Two seminars will be presented: How to Do Business with MICOM; How to Do Business with Federal Government/Civilian Agencies.

Sincerely,
B. A. Ingram
Chief, Small Business
Office, Redstone, Ala.

State Troopers mark 46th birthday today

Today marks the 46th anniversary of creation of the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

James L. Roberts Jr., commissioner of public safety, said Mississippians can be proud of their first-line-of-defense agency that has grown from a small traffic enforcement organization into a complex law enforcement establishment that can more than double the manpower resources of city and county law enforcement departments.

Roberts said what started with 53 officers is now a force of more than seven times that number.

"The Highway patrol's 587 sworn officers stand ready to provide back up assistance anywhere in the state."

"Mississippi's troopers have distinguished themselves in providing efficient support to local law officers in fast-moving emergencies such as bank robberies, manhunts, hostage situations, civil disturbances and escaped prisoner searches."

The Highway Patrol provides the professional services of air surveillance pilots during manhunts or rescue missions; scuba divers for underwater search and recovery operations; explosives experts to defuse bombs; and specialists to reconstruct automobile crashes.

The commissioner said in 1938 when the Highway Patrol was created the highway death rate in Mississippi was 17.4 for every one million vehicle miles driven. One year after the Highway Patrol came into existence the death rate dropped to 15.4.

Within 10 years the highway death rate had decreased to 10.7 for every one million vehicle miles driven.

The 1982 highway death rate was 4.2 for every one million miles driven.

This decrease was effected even though the number of licensed drivers increased from 241,315 in 1939 to 1,736,051 in 1982.

The number of registered vehicles increased from 216,041 in 1938 to 1,590,472 in 1982.

Roberts said, "The progress made by the Highway Patrol has not been without sacrifice. The price of law enforcement is costly in terms of risks to the officers whose career choice is keeping law and order."

"Two years after the patrol was created one of its officers was killed in a line-of-duty motorcycle crash."

Since that time 17 others have died while protecting the lives and property of Mississippians.

Seven officers who have died in the line of duty were murdered; 11 died in traffic accidents," the commissioner added.

He said, "For nearly half a century the motto of 'Courtesy, Service and Safety' has guided the activities of patrol personnel. As we observe the 46th year of service we look to the challenges of the last decades of the 20th century with confidence and renewed dedication."

Senate Bill 161 creating the Highway Patrol was signed by Gov. Hugh White on April 1, 1938.

Roadblock Day will aid burn center operations

The Mississippi Firefighters Memorial Burn Association has designated Saturday, April 7, as Statewide Roadblock Day for the Mississippi Firefighters Memorial Burn Center.

Firefighters will be joined throughout Mississippi by Communications Workers, Jaycees, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliaries, Firefighters Auxiliaries and Elks, as they participate in this massive fund-raising effort.

Roadblocks will be set up throughout Mississippi where roadblocks are permitted. Other types of fund-raising will be taking place in areas where roadblocks are not permitted.

Funds collected will be used to help with operational expenses of the Mississippi Firefighters Memorial Burn Center located in Greenville. This highly specialized burn care facility is the only one of its kind in the southeastern section of the United States, and burn victims of all ages are treated there.

Funds to build this 16-bed Center were donated by concerned citizens throughout Mississippi, business, industry and a special grant from the Mississippi Legislature.

The center, which became operational in January, 1982, replaced the ten-bed Burn Unit at Delta Medical Center in Greenville.

To date, 305 burn victims have received treatment in the Burn Center. Patients have come from 68 counties in Mississippi and the state of Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Louisiana.

Mississippians are encouraged to support the Burn Center by giving generously when approached at the roadblocks.

POINT OF LAW

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your legal rights.)

Q: I went to a small claims court where I won a verdict. Now I am having trouble getting the person to pay me as instructed by the court. What can I do?

A: If you are aware of the defendant's place of employment you can obtain a garnishment against the wages of the defendant.

An execution may be levied on any non-exempt personal property or real property which is owned by the defendant. This property would then be sold and the proceeds applied to satisfying your judgement.

Q: My husband and I have been having problems, and two weeks ago he moved to another county to live with his brother. Yesterday I got a petition and summons in the mail where he has sued me for divorce in the county in which he now lives. A friend of mine says that he cannot do that. What should I do?

A: You should immediately retain an attorney. Your attorney can request that the case be transferred to the county in which you reside.

PAST PRESIDENT RECOGNIZED—L.J. Breaux, left, accepts past president's plaque from Pat Harvill, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. Breaux served two years as president of the chamber, and is a member of the board of directors. The presentation was made at the regular March meeting of the business group. Effective family budget key to personal money management FAMILY BUDGET—Does your budget give you an idea of what amount should be put aside today for future security?

Does your budget include large annual and semi-annual expenses?

Does it tell you what amounts you are spending on day-to-day living expenses?

Does it let you know what amounts are left for luxuries?

Does it reveal long-term relationships between income and expenses so that you are not living paycheck to paycheck?

Does it present all this information in an organized, businesslike form?

Does the budget help you set and achieve your financial priorities?

Does it allow for personal allowances to family members?

Does it enhance family communication and togetherness, rather than destroy it?

If your honest answer to each of these questions was "yes," you are to be commended on your financial progress. If not, it may be time for evaluating and updating the family financial system.

The Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service offers a free budget counseling service through Money Management Centers in Biloxi and Jackson.

Group programs related to budgeting, financial planning, credit management, and estate planning are also available to educational institutions, employee assistance programs, and civic and special interest groups.

The Cooperative Extension Service does not discriminate on grounds of race, color, religion, national origin, sex, age, or handicap.

DIALING FOR A HOME—The Hancock County Animal Shelter on Gulfside Drive in Waveland hasn't been receiving very many calls lately for adoptions, so little one-month-old Ernestine has been practicing her telephone dialing skills here on this pushbutton model at the shelter. This healthy calico kitten needs a good home soon or she will be painlessly destroyed by lethal injection. But if you should receive a call and hear a gravelly MEOW—that's Ernestine. For adoption information call the Bay-Waveland Humane Society volunteer at 467-0230 Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.; Tuesday from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m.; Thursday from noon until 3 p.m.; or Saturday from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

AN UNUSUAL BREED—A good home with a fenced yard is needed for this one-year-old female vizsla named Olga who was found wandering in the Shoreline Park area. This obviously intelligent dog has a bobbed tail and a reddish-brown coat. But she will be painlessly destroyed by lethal injection unless a proper home is found soon. For adoption information call the Bay-Waveland Humane Society volunteer at 467-0230 Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.; Tuesday from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m.; Thursday from noon until 3 p.m.; or Saturday from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

NASA's Nat'l. Space Technology Lab. and Hancock County Welcome Center

Wednesday, April 4, 1984

NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories in Bay St. Louis will open its doors to pilgrimage visitors from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Visitors to NSTL will meet at the Visitors Center for a short briefing on activities of NASA and other resident agencies. Other activities will include a view of the installation atop the 90-foot Space Tower. Guided bus tours will be conducted at 45-minute intervals throughout the day. Tours will include the Space Shuttle Test Complex, being used to test the Space Shuttle Main Engines and the Shuttle's Main Propulsion System. Visitors will also get a drive thru tour of historic old Gamesville along the banks of the beautiful East Pearl River. Cafeteria facilities are available at the installation.

You are also invited to view the Hancock County Welcome Center. Opened on February 1, 1979, at the junction of Interstate 10 and Mississippi Highway 607, this copy of an antebellum home (with one room reserved for antiques only) has often been called the "most beautiful Hospitality Center in the U.S.A." Ladies from the Bay-Waveland and Diamondhead Garden Clubs will be hostesses from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

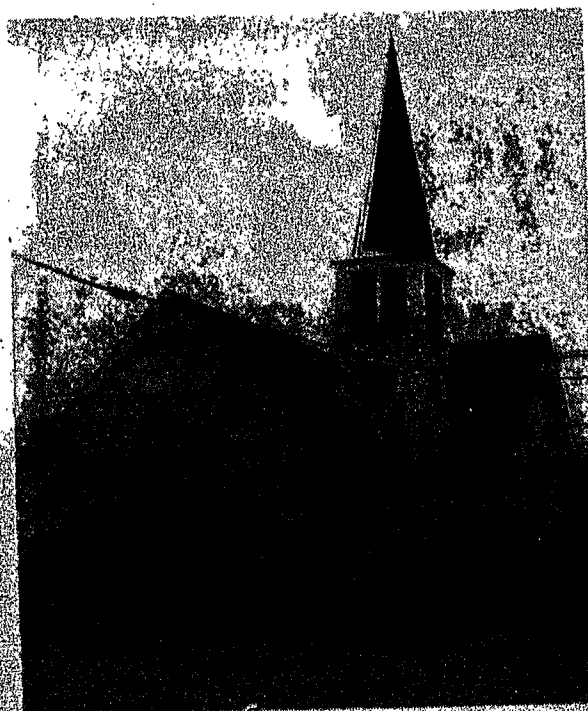

BAY WAVELAND

Thursday, April 5 - 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

BAY WAVELAND GARDEN CENTER

114 Leonhard Ave., Bay St. Louis, 10:00 a.m. to 12 noon.
Coffee will be served. Maps and information regarding the tour will also be available.

MAIN ST. UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 160 Main Street, Bay St. Louis - Ca. 1895, 10:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

The Methodist Church was organized in 1862 in the town of Stennisboro, now Bay St. Louis. The present church building, now 22 years old, is an outstanding example of Carpenter Gothic architecture. The original Gothic arch windows and the five memorial windows designed and made by Milton Fawcett are of special interest.

ARBORETUM AT THE HANCOCK COUNTY LIBRARY SYSTEM HEADQUARTERS, 312 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis

10:00 a.m. to 12 noon.

This Arboretum, one of 19 in the Mississippi State-wide Arboretum System, is sponsored by the Garden Clubs of Mississippi, Inc. to increase public awareness of living plants. Twenty-five trees, shrubs, vines, and perennials have been labeled with common and botanical names. A photo-essay exhibit entitled "Mississippi in the '30s" will be on display in the Crawford Room of the Library from 10 a.m. - 6:00 p.m.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. ROBERT SEATON

625 N. Beach Blvd., Waveland, 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Set beneath live oaks which shade it from the summer sun, this house overlooks the gulf from the living areas and the master bedroom. Windows in the rear provide a view of the seasonally changing wildlife that gather around the pond. The Maori mask above the fireplace is carved from native New Zealand wood and protects the home from evil spirits.

LUNCHEON AT BAY WAVELAND YACHT CLUB

North Beach Blvd., Bay St. Louis, 11:30 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

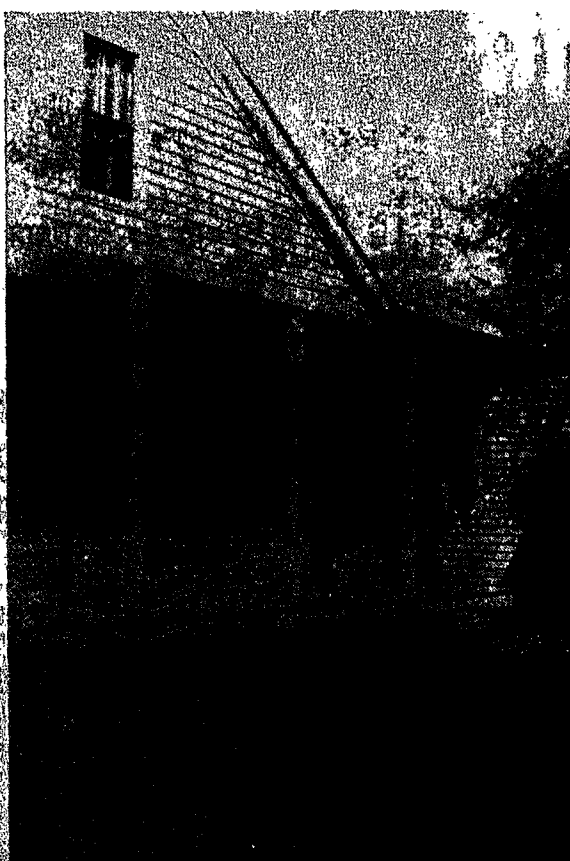

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Yacht Club will prepare and serve lunch. PREPAID RESERVATIONS MUST BE MADE IN ADVANCE. $6.00. Mail check with reservations to Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, Box 367, Bay St. Louis, Ms 39520. Lunch without reservations is available in many of the area's restaurants.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS MAULDEN

111 Gulf Dr., Waveland, 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

This country style home in a wooded setting features wide, deep porches that surround the downstairs rooms. The fireplace in the great room, the raised hearth, and the tall chimney were built with rocks hand picked and hauled by the Mauldens from the family home-place in North Arkansas. A refreshment will be served on the side porch.

HOME OF MR. AND MRS. IRVING CLOUTIER, 121 Citizen St., Bay St. Louis - Ca. 1860, 10:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

This cottage which appears on the National Register of Historic Places originally contained five rooms. It was saved in 1931 by two brothers who provided each with a separate home. The wide side porch, once the center hall living room, and the oak trees, estimated to be over 300 years old, are especially noteworthy.

DIAMONDHEAD GARDEN OF THE MONTH

A profusion of tulips, daffodils, redbud trees and pear trees highlight the garden (referred to as 'Jones Park' by area residents) of Mr.

Azaleas require pest protection

By James Jarratt
Entomologist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Azaleas are an important plant in many landscape plans across the state. The bloom period and heavy green foliage are pleasing qualities throughout the year. Some of these some qualities also attract insects. To prevent damage by insects, inspect your plants. This will help you catch insects at low populations which are easier to control and before much damage is done. Pests that may cause potential problems are lace bugs, azalea caterpillars and mites.

Lace bugs are small insects with a distinctive lace-like appearance to their bodies and wings. Both the adults and nymphs feed on the underside of the leaves, but the damage is apparent on the upper surface. The damage appears as an irregular yellowing of the leaf surface.

If the insects are not controlled, the yellowing will spread over the entire leaf surface. The underside of the leaf will be covered with brownish-black droplets of excrement. Frequently the cast skins of nymphs remain attached to the leaf. We can have at least three generations of this insect a year in our area.

The azalea caterpillar is a leaf feeder. In unchecked situations, it can defoliate a plant rapidly. The adult is a dull brown moth which lays its eggs on the undersides of the leaves. The newly hatched caterpillars will feed in a group. At first they skeletonize the leaves, but as they increase in size, they will devour the entire leaf.

A fully grown caterpillar is 1.5 inches long. It has a red head and legs with a black body and a row of longitudinal yellow spots and covered with sparse white hairs. When disturbed, the caterpillars will arch their heads and tails as though to fight off a predator.

Two mites, the southern red mite and the two-spotted spider mite, can cause problems on azaleas. These pests live on the sap of the plant which is drawn by piercing the leaf with sharp, needle-like mouthparts. Adults and immature mites generally are found on the underside of the leaf.

Feeding produces a flecking or stippled effect on the leaves. Where large populations exist, injured and yellowed areas will cover the entire leaf surface. Attacked leaves will gradually die and drop from the plant.

As a result of mite infestations, a fine silk webbing will cover the foliage and will collect much dust and debris. The production of webbing is not as severe in red mite infestation. You should expect spider mite outbreaks in hot, dry weather and southern red mite outbreaks in cooler periods such as spring or fall.

In controlling these pests, remember that the key is early detection. The populations are low and much easier to deal with and plant damage is kept to a minimum.

Kelthane is a good mite control material, but it has no effect on insects. Use an insecticide such as diazinon, malathion or orthene to spray for the control of lace bugs or azalea caterpillars.

Prune shrubs after spring blooming

Spring-blooming deciduous shrubs are flowering across Mississippi.

Immediately after blooming, plants such as forsythia, weigela, spiraea, flowering almond and kerria should be pruned, said Jim Perry, Extension horticulturist.

"Prune the branches at different lengths or at different levels, rather than flat-topping them," Perry said. "First remove any dead, diseased or abnormal branches. Then prune to reduce the size of the shrub by one-third to one-half."

Broadleaf evergreens such as photinia, gardenia, hollies, ligustrum, cleyera, elaeagnus, nandina, pyracantha, euonymus and cherry laurel can be pruned in April. This pruning will stimulate new growth, more flowers and more fruit.

A general pruning rule is to remove only one-third to one-half of the shrub's foliage and limbs. Broadleaf evergreens will respond and comb back from severe pruning if you find it necessary to cut them back drastically.

Drastic pruning will ruin your narrowleaf (coniferous) evergreens such as junipers, arbovitae, ornamental pines, spruce and cedar. These evergreens usually need only shearing of the foliage to maintain their distinctive forms, Perry said.

"If you have overgrown narrowleaf plants, don't expect them to recover from severe pruning," he said. "Your only choices are to shear them lightly and leave them in the landscape, or to replace them with new plants."

Many new improved cultivars (cultivated varieties) are now available. Most are smaller when mature and are better adapted to current home styles.

For best summer growth, most ornamental shrubs and ground covers need an application of a complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8 or 6-8-8.

Spread the fertilizer uniformly and evenly throughout the planting bed at the rate of two pounds per 100 square feet. Be especially careful around azaleas, camellias, hollies and other shallow-rooted shrubs with sensitive root systems.

"To avoid root burn, don't use more than the recommended rate of fertilizer," Perry said. "Applying fertilizer around shrubs on top of a mulch also will help prevent root burn."

After fertilizing, water the plants thoroughly to dissolve and wash in the fertilizer.

Fertilizer application will greatly benefit newly transplanted trees and trees younger than five years of age. A general recommendation is two pounds of a complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8 and 6-8-8 for each inch diameter of the tree.

Measure the tree trunk at chest height (four to five feet above the ground). For example, a newly planted tree whose trunk at chest height is one inch across will need two pounds of fertilizer. A tree whose trunk is two inches will need four pounds of fertilizer.

Broadcast the fertilizer evenly around the tree. Avoid placing the fertilizer within one foot of the base of the tree trunk. This can cause severe burning and subsequent decay around the trunk collar or base.

Thinking Slim

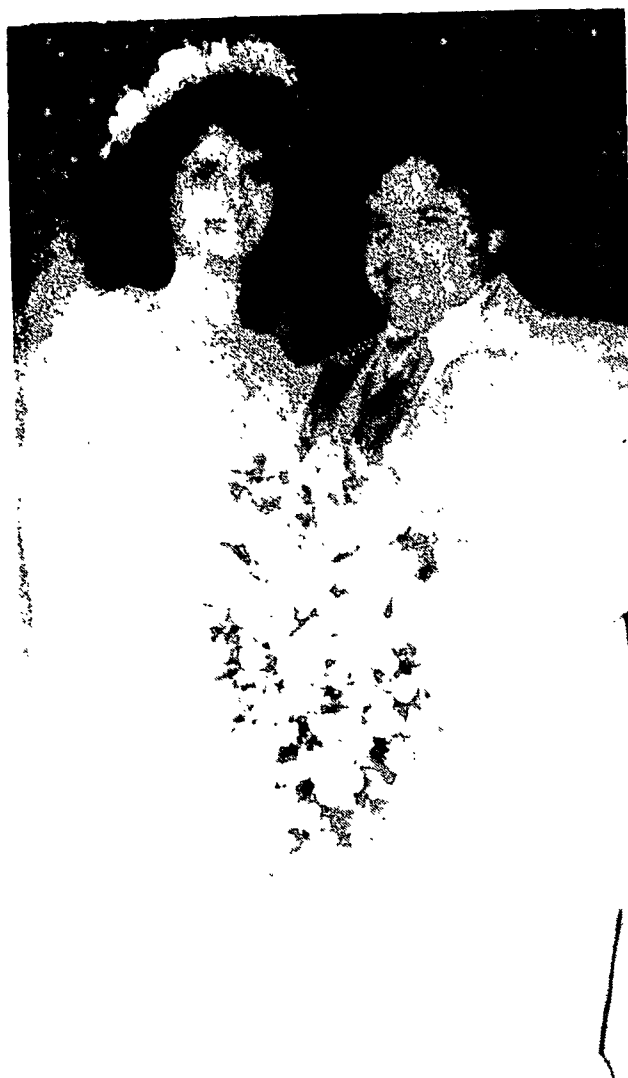

BY JEAN NIDETCH

DON'T WAIT TILL YOU'RE SLIM TO BE CONCERNED ABOUT APPEARANCE

Too many people are unattractive, not because of the excess pounds they carry, but because they have given up on their appearance. The often heard accusation that someone with a weight problem has "let themselves go" has some basis in fact. While a careless attitude about appearance may not have caused the weight gain, the weight itself can lead to an attitude of discouragement which results in self-neglect. "What's the use in putting on make-up (or getting my hair done, or shopping for new clothes)," we think. "All they'll notice is my size, anyway." Yet we do our friends a disservice in assuming that all they will focus on is this one aspect of our appearance. We forget that size is just one aspect of the total picture. The fact is that a neat, well-groomed carefully dressed person with an outgoing, pleasant personality will usually be well received regardless of a few extra pounds. Yet by neglecting our appearance, we create a self-fulfilling prophecy. If we appear in public looking frumpy, unkempt, neglected, and unfriendly, chances are people will avoid us, not because of our weight, but because of total negative impression we convey.

It's not easy to start caring about ourselves when our bodies don't live up to our ideals. Yet it is while we are in the process of losing weight that we need that little extra attention the most. A new hair style, manicure, special fragrance, or outfit can do a lot to lift our spirits and strengthen our faltering egos, which in turn reinforces our motivation to keep on losing. When we refrain from these little indulgences because we feel we don't yet "deserve" them, we are punishing ourselves for being overweight. Yet the weight itself is punishment enough! And losing even a few pounds is an accomplishment which entitles us to a little reward! If we dislike ourselves, it is unrealistic to expect others to respond positively to us. On the other hand, once we begin to take care of ourselves, we'll like ourselves a little better. And then we'll be willing to make the effort needed to achieve the best possible body, not because we feel we have to, but because we deserve it! © Weight Watchers International, Inc. and Suburban Features

Breland, Kimmel exchange vows

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the February 24 candlelight wedding of Georgia Lynn Kimmel and William Clark Breland.

Rev. Francis Farrell officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Kimmel of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Eugene Breland, also of Bay St. Louis.

Two brass vases of white bridal roses adorned the altar, along with white candles decorated with pompon carnations, roses and baby's breath.

Six candelabra enhanced with lace ribbon greenery and baby's breath lined the aisle, while satin ribbons marked the family pews. Nuptial music was provided by Vic Franckiewicz, organist, and Sherry Schwabacher, vocalist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white sheerganza and chantilly lace over bridal taffeta. The Victorian bodice was generously sprinkled with seed pearls and had a sheer yoke outlined with ruffled chantilly lace, scalloped stand-up collar and sheer, tapered sleeves with lace ruffle at the wrist. The full, flared skirt was appliqued with lace and featured a ruffled flounce of raschel lace forming the hemline and encircling the cathedral train. She wore a Juliet cap of matching lace and tiered veil of illusion.

The bride carried a cascade of white bridal roses, baby's breath, stephanotis, English ivy and lace bows and satin streamers.

Mrs. Norman Coward of Bay St. Louis was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Robin Gibbons of Birmingham, Ala., cousin of the bride; Judy Johnson, Misa Murphy and Kerri Breland, sister of the groom, all of Bay St. Louis.

The attendants wore identical gowns of ming blue faille taffeta, each with portrait neckline, princess sleeves, basque waistline and full skirt. They carried single stemmed white roses with baby's breath and greenery.

William E. Breland served his son as best man.

Groomsmen were Mark Eugene Breland, Craig Breland and Keith Breland, brothers of the groom, Joseph D. Cabaniss, all of Bay St. Louis.

Serving as ushers were Steve Seymour, Joseph Bye, David Strong and David Favre, all of Bay St. Louis, and Craig Montgomery of Starkville and Diamondhead.

Mrs. Kimmel chose for her daughter's wedding a formal gown of dusty powder blue silesta in an empire style with crystal pleated skirt and chiffon capelet overlay. The groom's mother wore a formal length aquamarine crepe gown with tulip hem on the bodice and skirt, jewel neckline and long sheer sleeves.

A reception followed the ceremony at Patio St. Louis, where Diana Major assisted at the cake table.

On return from a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will reside in Bay St. Louis.

Herron, Matherne wed at St. Clare

Michelle Marie Matherne and John Robert Herron III were united in marriage on February 25 at St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland. Officiating at the ceremony was Rev. William Vollor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Victor Matherne of Waveland. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lee of Bay St. Louis.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Mildred Means, organist and Mrs. Roseann Thomas, vocalist.

The altar was decorated with candelabra on either side of the altar with two baskets of silk roses, tiger lilies and plumosa fern. Live potted mums were also near the altar.

Scripture readings were offered by Randy Tartavouille of Waveland. Mrs. Paula Garcia of Bay St. Louis, aunt of the bride and Ms. Denise White of Chalmette, La., cousin of the bride, presented offertory gifts during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding a formal gown of white organza over satin fashioned with elaborate embroidery appliques. The fitted bodice featured embroidery appliques, pearls and iridescents and tulle. The hemline was bordered with three rows of lace, with one row falling into a cathedral length train, accented with embroidery appliques. Her headpiece was a wreath of white silk roses and rosebuds accented with seed pearls and jubilee jupe which held a floor length veil of illusion bordered with lace and enhanced with appliques of lace, pearls and iridescents.

She carried a cascade of silk white roses, rosebuds, apple blossoms, plumosa fern, lace ribbon and seed pearls, accented with jubilee jupe. Her jewelry was a solitaire diamond belonging to her mother.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Donna Sala, cousin of the bride of Metairie, La.

Bridesmaids were Pam Chastain of Slidell, La., cousin of the bride; Tracey Summers of Bay St. Louis; Renette Davis, cousin of the groom of Bay St. Louis; Mary Favre of Waveland; Violet Patterson of Bay St. Louis.

Junior bridesmaid was Tiffany Matherne, cousin of the bride of Metairie, La. Flower girl was Michelle Borderlon, cousin of the bride of Baker, La.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his father, Jesse Lee.

Groomsmen were Paul Sebera Jr., uncle of the bride, of Winter Haven, Fla.; Donald White, cousin of the bride of Chalmette, La.; Darrell and Darren Lee, brothers of the groom and Glen Merranto of Bay St. Louis.

Anthony Lee of Bay St. Louis, brother of the groom, was junior groomsman. Donald Chastain of Chalmette, La., cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Ushers were Gordon Garcia, uncle of the bride, of Bay St. Louis and Kenny Ray Ladner, uncle of the groom. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Matherne chose a formal gown of lavender accordin pleated chiffon. Mrs. Lee chose a deep rose formal gown.

Following the Nuptial Mass the bride's parents hosted a reception at St. Paul's gymnasium in Pass Christian.

Baskets of greenery including palms, ficus, and fern decorated throughout.

The bride's table held a five-tiered wedding cake with a fountain in the center. Four heart shaped cakes outlined the corners of the table which was accented with greenery.

A white wicker basket centerpiece of pink and white satin rice roses and baby's breath handmade by Mrs. Pam Varona and Mrs. Dorothy White, aunts of the bride of Chalmette, La. and Mrs. Frances Matherne, grandmother of the bride of New Orleans, enhanced the bride's table. Two baskets of silk roses and tiger lilies and fern flanked the table.

Guests included Mrs. Margaret Tomasich and Mrs. Frances Matherne, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Ivy Ladner, grandmother of the groom.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Dawn Wood of Burton, S.C., cousin of the bride; Mrs. De Rouleau, Green Valley, Calif., aunt of the bride; Paul Sebera Jr., Winter Haven, Fla., uncle of the bride; and Mrs. Brenda Kinder of Bedford, Tex. Numerous friends and relatives from New Orleans, Chalmette, Metairie, Jefferson and Belle Chase, La. were in attendance.

Pre-Nuptial Parties
Prior to her marriage the bride was honored Feb. 5 with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Donna Sala and Ms. Pam Chastain.

On Feb. 12 a miscellaneous shower was hosted by Mrs. Paula Garcia in Bay St. Louis and on Feb. 19 four attendants of the bride hosted a shower in Bay St. Louis.

Antique Show slated April 13-15

The Gulfport Chapter of the American Business Women's Association is sponsoring an Antique Show and Sale April 13, 14 and 15 at the West Side Community Center on Highway 90 in Gulfport.

Antique dealers from Mississippi, Louisiana, and Alabama will be invited to participate. Doors will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. each day.

Admission is by $1 donation for adults. Children may attend free. Proceeds will be used to award scholarships to local young women.

ABWA is an educational association dedicated to the professional, educational, cultural, and social advancement of business women. For further information contact Rosetta Richard, publicity chairman at (601) 832-6565.

Golman initiated

Charlotte Amelia Golman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Golman of 217 Union Street, Bay St. Louis, was initiated into Kappa Delta Sorority at Southwestern College in Memphis, Tenn.

Miss Golman is a sophomore majoring in English. She is a graduate of Coast Episcopal High School where she was active in the French Club, Mu Alpha Theta, and the National Honor Society. She was also the president of her Junior class, and vice-president of her Senior class.

At Southwestern, Miss Golman is assistant editor to the Yearbook, and she is on the tennis team.

Jines—Collins

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jines of Orange, Conn. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Tamitha Lynne Jines, to Midshipman James J. Collins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Collins of Bay St. Louis.

Their marriage will be solemnized on Friday, May 25 at 3 p.m. at the United States Naval Academy Chapel at Annapolis, Md.

Miss Jines, whose mother is the former Miss Osa Fay LaFontaine, was graduated from Annapolis High School in Woodbridge, Conn. She is presently attending Southern Connecticut State University majoring in computer science. She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorrell LaFontaine of North East, Md. and Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Jines of Lake Charles, La.

Midshipman Collins, whose mother is the former Miss Patsy Ruth LeBlanc, was graduated from St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis. He will graduate in May from the United States Naval Academy majoring in naval architecture.

He is a grandson of Mrs. Waldon LeBlanc of Gonzales, La. and the late Mr. LeBlanc and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey H. Collins of New Orleans, La.

KEVIN GLANCEY AND KRISTEN KOCH

Koch—Glancey

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Koch of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Kristen Ann Koch, to Kevin Michael Glancey, son of Ms. Mary Poole Glancey of Long Beach.

The bride-elect is a 1982 graduate of Our Lady's Academy, where she was a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta and French National Honor Society. She was secretary of the Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Youth Organization and received the Outstanding Student Award from the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce. She attended the University of South Alabama in Mobile and Jeff Davis Junior College in Gulfport where she studied physical therapy.

She is employed with the Respiratory Therapy Dept. of Hancock General Hospital and T-Bone Steak House.

The prospective groom is a 1980 graduate of Lake Weir

High School in Ocala, Fla. He attended Marion County Junior College in Ocala. While in high school, he was a member of the Beta Club, DECA, football team, wrestling and weight lifting teams. Mr. Glancey is a second class petty officer in the electronic warfare division of the U. S. Navy.

The couple will solemnize vows June 2 in an 11 a.m. ceremony at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Williams—Santalla

Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Williams of Jourdan River Shores announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Brenda Kay Williams, to Mark Dennis Santalla, son of Vincent Santalla of Waveland and Mrs. Edna Mejia of Cutoff, La.

The bride-elect is a 1983 honor graduate of Hancock North Central High School where she was a member of the Beta Club and was listed in Who's Who in American High Schools. She received the senior English and Accounting awards and a U. S. Cheerleader Achievement award. She attends Pearl River Junior College.

The prospective groom is a 1983 graduate of Hancock North Central High School where he was Star Student and member of the Beta Club. He received the Hawk award, Football Scholastic award, National Scholar Athlete and VFW awards and Danforth's "I Dare You" award. He was listed in Who's Who in American High Schools. Mr. Santalla is enlisted in the nuclear program with the U. S. Navy.

The couple will exchange vows April 14 in a 6 p.m. ceremony at First Baptist Church in Bay St. Louis with Rev. Bill Farris officiating.

Births

TIMOTHY HAROLD BRAGG

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Eugene Bragg Jr. announce the birth of their first child, a son, Timothy Harold, March 20, 1984 at 5:13 a.m. at Memorial Hospital at Gulfport.

Mrs. Bragg is the former Cheryl Jean McLain. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. Esther M. Bragg of Abbeville, La. and Bay St. Louis.

Maternal grandparents are Jannelle K. McLain of Bay St. Louis and Billy E. McLain Sr. of Gulfport.

Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Van Trier of Bay St. Louis.

WHITNEY LEE LILES

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liles of Bay St. Louis announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Whitney Lee, March 23, 1984 at 1:22 p.m. at Memorial Hospital of Gulfport.

She weighed 8 pounds, 2 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. N. "Buddy" Sullivan of Byhalia, Miss.

Paternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. Ira James Liles.

Great-grandparents are Mrs. Nettie C. Ferrell of Holly Springs, Miss. and Mr. James W. Sullivan of Mendenhall, Miss.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Crafty Homemakers

The March 26 meeting of the Crafty Homemakers Club was held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Ladner and was opened with the pledge to the flag and the devotional. The focus for the month, "What Good Is a Family Anyway," was presented by Mrs. Ladner together with some sewing hints "Super Sewing Shortcuts."

Mrs. Allie Cospelich, Beatrice Ladner, Mildred Ramond, and Viola Burrows were winners in the recent Fashion Revue. These members will compete at the District Fashion Revue which will be in Ellenville on April 3.

The cultural arts chairman requested that as many members as possible enter their handicrafts in the Cultural Arts Fair to be held at City-County Library on May 9.

Several members volunteered to sign up to be hostesses at the Welcome Center for the Spring Pilgrimage.

Mrs. Ladner gave a presentation on the International Peace Garden. This garden is located at the geographical center of North America and honors 150 years of peace between Canada and the United States. It lies on the boundary line between North Dakota and Manitoba.

The National Cooperative Homemakers donated to the construction of the first building at this garden and they contribute each year to assist with its maintenance. Brochures of the World's Fair, Mississippi State Parks and Mississippi Recreation Guide were distributed to each member for their perusal.

Mrs. Mildred Ramond spoke on the Vial of Life program and stressed better rapport with doctors and pharmacists on local levels.

Mrs. Viola Burrows spoke on "Encouragement in Recycling" and "Energy Efficient Housing."

An outstanding feature of the meeting was a presentation given by Mrs. Margaret Fayard about her experiences as a "rock hound." She described and passed around among the members the many fossils and geodes she found during her numerous rock hunting trips in Mississippi, Texas, Arizona and other states. She presented to each member a necklace fashioned out of polished agates.

A motion was made and seconded that the club adopt the project of taking craft materials to the Hotel Reed Nursing Home. After the meeting the hostess served refreshments, salad and dessert. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Mildred Ramond.

Diamondhead Garden Club

A field trip to Zephyrus Gardens near Hammond, La. was enjoyed by 42 members of the Diamondhead Garden Club, including seven husbands.

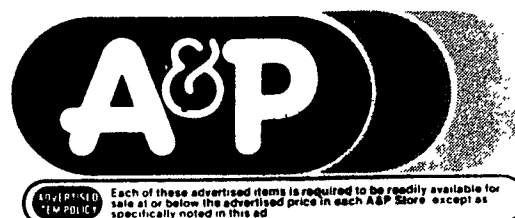

For the March meeting the gardens were blooming profusely with dogwood and redbud trees and azaleas and camellia shrubs.

A stop for lunch was made on the return trip, and the president, Mrs. B. B. Boatright, conducted a short business meeting immediately following, at which these reports were made: Mrs. Wm. Neff, Bird Chairman, said the Bird Sanctuary signs were now in place.

Mrs. T. V. Freddan, Flower Show chairman, distributed flower show schedules and entry tags.

Mrs. George Kolassa, Beautification chairman, gave out flyers regarding the Spring Clean-Up Week, March 24-30, in an effort to alert gardeners and residents to the importance of keeping trees and shrubs picked up.

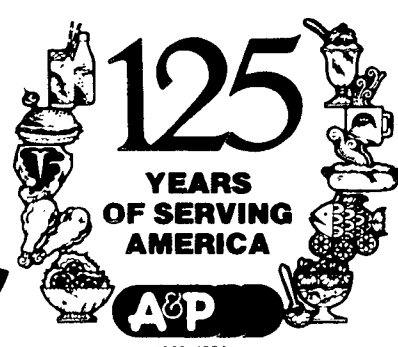

Prize chairman, Mrs. Joe K. K. thanked all who had helped in the making of the prize drawing (the telephone numbers).

Balanced diet essential to good health

By Nelda Starks
Nutrition Education
Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Balanced eating is necessary for good health because no single food can supply the more than 40 nutrients the body needs.

The greater the variety of foods people eat each day, the more likely they are to consume nutrients such as necessary proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, fiber and water.

What is balanced eating? No single food can supply the more than 40 nutrients necessary for good health. The greater the variety of foods you eat each day, the more likely you are to consume the most nutrients—necessary proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, fiber and water.

Better eating habits based on a variety of food choices can help maintain and even improve health. "Balancing" simply means selecting foods each day from each of the four major food groups:

—Fruits and vegetables (four servings per day, with one dark green or one deep yellow vegetable every other day)

—Whole grain and enriched breads, cereals, pasta, rice, corn and other grains (four servings per day)

—Milk, cheeses, regular and low-fat yogurt, and ice cream (two servings per day)

—Meats, fish, poultry, eggs, tofu, beans and nuts (two servings or four ounces daily).

Foods, such as butter and margarine, salad dressings and oils, desserts and jellies, all add to the pleasure of eating, but provide mostly empty calories—calories without many nutrients.

When more calories are taken in than the body uses, excess weight results. Go easy on these extras. Slow down on salts—less "shakes" from the shaker. Try herb and spice mixtures from the shaker for new flavor fun.

Don't forget liquids. People living in warm climates or engaging in regular exercise should drink four to eight glasses of water, juices, milk, tea or coffee daily. While keeping fit, drink fluids.

Does every adult need the same nutrients? Most adults, regardless of age or body size, need the same nutrients in their diet. But there are a few noteworthy exceptions:

—Women in childbearing years may need extra iron to replace iron lost in menstrual bleeding. Iron is found in red meats, green leafy vegetables and enriched grain products.

—Women who are pregnant or breastfeeding need more iron, vitamin B (especially folic acid), vitamin A, calcium, and increased calories from proteins, fats and carbohydrates. Green leafy vegetables contain folic acid, iron and vitamin A. Milk and cheese are good sources of calcium and B vitamins. And meats provide iron and other B vitamins. Larger helpings will add the necessary extra energy.

—Elderly or very inactive people need about the same amount of nutrients as younger active people—but fewer calories. Older body processes work slower and require less energy. Aim to highlight choices from the four major food groups—foods that are easy to chew and tasty. Don't always go for high-calorie, fatty foods. Make meals and snacks pleasant. Try new recipes. Dine with friends at local restaurants featuring senior citizen specials or enjoy a meal at home with the TV or radio as company. Good nutrition has no age limit. Keep the family healthy and fit. Check product labels carefully to see that the best food is bought for nutritional needs. Consult a professional dietitian for specific nutrition advice. And go the distance to win with sensible food choices.

As for exercise, begin an exercise program slowly. Check with a doctor on the type and amount of exercise. The usual recommendation is 20-30 minutes of exercise at least three times a week.

Porter to head state banking, finance depts.

Governor Bill Allan Tuesday named Natchez banker Jean S. Porter to serve as commissioner of the Department of Banking and Consumer Finance.

Porter, 55, becomes the first woman to serve in that post. She is presently vice-president of First Natchez Bank, where she has worked since 1981. She previously served as manager of loan operations, director of the Central Credit Department and was given responsibility over all operations in 1982. In 1983 she was promoted to vice president.

Porter, whose appointment is subject to Senate confirmation, is a graduate of Natchez High School and the University of Southern Mississippi. She is a member of the National Association for Banking Women, American Institute of Banking and state and local personnel committees for the Mississippi State Employment Security Commission.

In addition, Tuesday Governor Allan announced his appointees to the Pharmacy Board, Board of Veterinary Examiners and Technical Advisory Committee of Boiler and Pressure Vessel Safety. All are subject to Senate confirmation.

M. Jean Ratliff, a Belmont Pharmacist, was named to serve on the Pharmacy Board. She is the first woman to serve on this board.

Appointments to the Board of Veterinary Examiners are Dr. C. Bert Hill of Amory, a reappointment, and Dr.

Lester J. Spell Jr. of Richland. Members of the Technical Advisory Committee of Boiler and Pressure Vessel Safety are Dr. C. T. Carley of Starkville, Mississippi State University professor; Glynn A. Simpson of Jackson, insurance executive; Paul C. Bourgeois Jr. of Pearl, head of maintenance and energy, Hinds Junior College; Jomey Byron Ethridge of Gulfport, manufacturing executive; and Jimmy W. Eldridge of Starkville, engineer.

TAGGING ALONG—"Last Kingdom of the Elephants" is one of the wildlife films selected to be part of the series "Living Wild," which will air on Mississippi ETV at 7 p.m., Sundays, beginning April 8. Some of the most outstanding films from the BBC were compiled for the series.

Bay walk-run-jog event to help Cystic Fibrosis

At a Cystic Fibrosis Walk-Run-Jog-A-Thon in Bay St. Louis Saturday April 7 prizes will be won and awards will be given, but the real winners won't be the participants—they will be some 30,000 children in the country who suffer from cystic fibrosis.

"We're inviting everyone in Bay St. Louis who likes to walk-run-jog, to do so on behalf of children with cystic fibrosis," said Brenda Bailey, chairman of the event.

"Every mile you walk-run-jog will help bring us closer to our goal of finding a cure for this tragic, fatal, lung and digestive disease."

According to Bailey, this Walk-Run-Jog-A-Thon is more than a fund-raising event. "It's a tribute to all the kids with cystic fibrosis who often fight for breath after just a short walk," Bailey says.

"This event is dedicated to them and to a future where cystic fibrosis will no longer prevent them from also enjoying a three mile walk-run-jog."

Cystic fibrosis, Bailey explains, is an inherited disease which clogs the airways of the lungs and the passageways of the digestive system. Severe respiratory infections and complications account for the majority of deaths. Every year, cystic fibrosis kills more children than any other disease except cancer.

Anybody interested in joining in the fight against cystic fibrosis should pick up a sponsor form as soon as possible at Loiacano's Health Club, Bay Junior High School, Hancock General Hospital, Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Bay Senior High School, and Our Lady of the Gulf CYO, and begin to get pledges from friends, family, and neighbors.

All proceeds from the Walk-Run-Jog-A-Thon will go to the Mississippi Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation to help support important programs of research, education, and care.

The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation is a voluntary nonprofit health organization supported solely by contributions from the public.

For more information about cystic fibrosis, contact the Mississippi Chapter at 5846 Ridgewood Road, Group 211-9, Box 10, Jackson, MS 39211, or Ms. Bailey at 467-7945 or 467-3931.

Movement official to speak at Pass Charismatic Mass

The monthly Charismatic Mass at St. Paul's Catholic Church in Pass Christian will feature Bill Beatty as guest speaker Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Beatty spent the first part of his life as a businessman and professional manager, graduating from Harvard Business School.

He then spent several years in management at multinational corporations both in the United States and overseas.

Deciding to devote more time to the works of Christ, he left the business world.

He founded a Catholic charismatic community in Augusta, Ga., "The Hallelujah Community."

He moved on from there with his wife, Laurette, and three children to Southbend, Ind., where he is now the associate director of the National Service Committee for the Catholic Charismatic Renewal.

All are invited to a glory and praise evening of worship.

Miss Hospitality deadline Monday

The Bay St. Louis Miss Hospitality Pageant will be held Saturday, April 28, Pageant Coordinator Janet Aime announced recently.

The pageant is open to young women between the ages of 18 and 22 who live in Hancock County.

Aime said women who attend college, or will attend this fall, must attend a Mississippi college and have at least a 2.5 scholastic average.

Young women who do not attend college are also welcome and encouraged to participate, she said.

Bay St. Louis' Miss Hospitality for 1984 will represent the city at the State Miss Hospitality Pageant at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum July 25-28.

Deadline for entries is Monday, April 2.

All interested women should call Aime at 467-5115 today or at City Hall, 467-9092, Monday.

Parish News

Light and darkness dominate our worship today. To live in the light is to live with faith. To live in the darkness is to resist the call to freedom and truth.

Kindly remember in your prayers Robert Weaver Sr. who was buried from St. Rose on Saturday, March 31.

Today's second collection is for the Bishop's Annual Overseas Appeal.

Religious instructions will be after 9 a.m. mass today for our students in grades 6, 7 and 8. Weekday classes will be at 3 p.m. on Monday for grades 1 and 2; on Tuesday for grades 3 and 4; and on Wednesday for grade 5. Confirmation class will be on Monday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

Our Gospel Choir will practice on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.; our Little People Choir on Saturday at 10:30 a.m.

Our basketball tournament is in its final weekend at the Seminary Gym. Thanks to the Zone C crew who worked so hard last week. Thanks also to those who donated money, cookies, candies, etc. Please keep them coming!

Drawings for the Party Pak and Luncheon Set will be tonight at tournament. Please turn in all raffle tickets by then. Thanks!

Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. the Tate and Johnson families will perform the service part of the liturgy. Our guest choir will be from St. Stephen's Church in DeLisle.

Sister Lauren will conduct the final Lenten Bible Study on Thursday in our Parish Center at 7:30 p.m.

The Padre Pio group will hold its regular prayer session next Saturday at 5:30 p.m. in church.

The Altar Society will have its annual Palm Sunday breakfast on April 15. Each member will be receiving two tickets to use or to sell. We are sure that the Altar Ladies will be doing their best, as usual, in this, their main fund raising activity of the year.

New insulation foam cuts shuttle tank costs

A new, lighter and easier-to-apply insulation foam used on the external tank of Space Shuttle external fuel tanks has reduced the cost and manufacturing time of each tank and has increased payload capacity.

By reducing the weight of the insulation Martin Marietta Aerospace, which builds the external fuel tanks, has enabled NASA to add 260 pounds of usable payload to the capacity of the Space Shuttle.

In applying the new insulation to the aft dome of the external tank, manufacturing time has been cut by 33 hours over previous insulating processes, and the weight has been reduced by 260 pounds. The net result was a cost savings of $118,000 for each tank.

The new foam insulation—chemically, a urethane-modified isocyanurate—resulted from two years of development by a team that included NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, North Carolina Foam Industries and Martin Marietta.

After completing material development, properties of the foam were verified by tunnel tests, cryogenic heat testing and other simulated environments. The reliable insulation will be used on the external tank of the Space Shuttle orbiter's three main engines at launch and is the structural backbone of the system in its launch configuration. It is 154 1/2 feet long, 27 1/2 feet in diameter and weighs 1,500,000 pounds loaded.

quid propellants in the tank as well as to protect the metal skin from heat generated by the shuttle's main engines and the exhaust plumes of the solid rocket boosters during launch.

The new foam insulation was first used on the external tank for the ninth shuttle mission in October 1983.

The tenth shuttle mission, in February 1984, relied on an older tank but all future flights will use tanks with the new insulating material.

This was the second weight reduction effort on the external tank.

In a separate effort earlier in 1983, the weight of the external tank was reduced by 10,000 pounds by modifying the tank's design, structure and insulation coating.

Martin Marietta manufactures the giant external fuel tanks at NASA's Michoud Assembly Facility in New Orleans. Eighteen of the tanks have been delivered to NASA. Ten have been flown on missions, five await future flights and three were used for ground testing.

The external tank contains the propellants that feed the Space Shuttle orbiter's three main engines at launch and is the structural backbone of the system in its launch configuration. It is 154 1/2 feet long, 27 1/2 feet in diameter and weighs 1,500,000 pounds loaded.

Patrol honors 29-year veteran

Capt Joe Price, who recently retired from the Mississippi Highway Patrol to accept a position as chief deputy sheriff of Harrison County, was honored March 20 following 29 years of service with the state.

Mississippi's 1983 Trooper of the Year, Master Sgt. Mickey Laddner, described Price as his "hero."

The chief of the Highway Patrol said Price's retirement closed out "one of the finest careers in the history of the Highway Patrol."

State Sen. George Smith read a resolution commending Price that passed both houses of the Legislature without a dissenting vote.

And a crowd of 253 law enforcement professionals and dignitaries from across the state attended to honor him.

At the time of his retirement, Price was serving as commander of the Mississippi Criminal Investigation Bureau's Southern Region.

He had also served as a trooper, Crime Lab administrator, governor's security officer and investigator.

An informal dinner honoring Price was capped by a series of tributes from colleagues and friends, including the state's commissioner of public safety and Apollo 14 Astronaut, Col. Stuart Allen Roosa.

Gov. Bill Allain asked me to express his thanks and appreciation to you for your distinguished service to the people of Mississippi," James L. Roberts Jr., commissioner of public safety, said.

"It bodes well for your fellow Harrison Countians that your career in law enforcement will continue as chief deputy," he added.

"I know your contribution to our state and to law enforcement will continue and will serve as an example for other officers," said Col. George Saxon, chief of patrol, who attended Highway Patrol cadet training with Price in 1955.

The Legislature's resolution noted that Price's personnel file contained more than 50 letters of commendation and no complaints over a 29-year period.

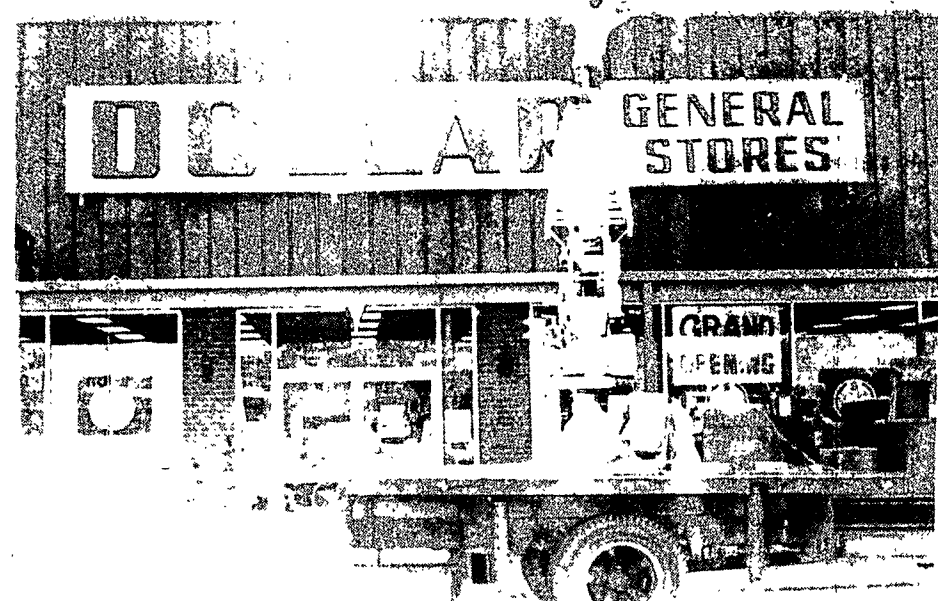

"Successful law enforcement demands cooperation and teamwork," Price responded. "I have been proud to have served with an organization that understands and promotes that."

"Whatever I have been able to accomplish could not have been done without the support and encouragement of my family. It is tough to have a husband or father who is a law enforcement officer, but they have supported me and encouraged me through it all."

Veteran officers described Price's retirement tribute as one of the largest and best attended in the history of the Highway Patrol.

HANCOCK TRAVEL—Judy Kennedy of Pass Christian Isles, manager of Hancock Travel Agency in Bay St. Louis, checks the agency computer for the latest fare and schedule information on commercial airline flights at the firm's spacious new quarters, 327 Shieldsboro Square off US-90 at Dunbar Avenue. Keesler schedules open house May 19

Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi will celebrate Armed Forces Day May 19 with an open house celebration.

The gates will open to the public at 10:30 a.m. and activities will continue until 4 p.m.

Although the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds are not scheduled to appear this year, base officials feel that the day's events will give visitors a good look at Keesler and today's Air Force.

Throughout the day aircraft from the Air Force and other branches of the U.S. military will be on display, and numerous aerial demonstrations will be taking place on the base's flightline. It is anticipated that among the day's events will be a flight demonstration of one of the Air Force's newest front-line fighter aircraft.

According to Maj. David Gates, open house project officer, there is an outside chance that the Confederate Air Force will take part in the day's festivities with displays of their vintage military aircraft.
